Distressed Children & Infants International (DCI) is a USA-based, 501(c)(3) non-profit international child rights organization established in 2003 at Yale University. DCI's mission is to protect the rights of children, stop child labor, and help families in developing countries lift themselves out of poverty through education, healthcare, and income generating opportunities. In keeping with its motto of "Children Helping Children", DCI engages American youth in its activities and connects them to less fortunate children in other countries. By participating in DCI's mission as co-sponsors and volunteers, they learn about the challenges facing children worldwide and are inspired to take leadership in humanitarian causes.
